REPORT OF THE SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS.

The twelfth annual report of the superintendent of schools, my third annual report, is herewith presented.

The present enrollment by schools and grades is as follows:

SCHOOLS.	GRADES.										TOTAL.
	I	II	III	IV	V	VI	VII	VIII	IX	X
Primary	43	31									74
Intermediate			28	23							51
Sub-Grammar					30	24					54
Grammar							12	10			22
High									14	16	30
West Hill	3	6	5	3	1	0	2	0			20
Totals	46	37	33	26	31	24	14	10	14	16	251

The number of pupils in the Troy schools has increased only five over the number enrolled at this time last year but the situation in the three lower rooms is the same as reported in previous years, and it has been necessary to retain the assistant in grades one and two on account of the fact that these grades are on half time. While we have taken care of the pupils in the intermediate and sub-grammar rooms it is only fair to the schools that the citizens should remember that it is impossible for any teacher to do justice to a school of over fifty children and that it is only due to our good fortune in securing teachers who have met the difficulties particularly well that the efficiency of our schools is what it is. The continuance of this overcrowding cannot fail to seriously affect the work of the Troy schools and it is hoped that some provision for more room may be made before the situation becomes worse.

Nearly all of the first-year pupils in the high school continued their course and there was an entering class of about the same number. Of the graduating class of sixteen, the larger part expect to continue their high school course elsewhere. There has been a general demand for a curriculum which would not include Latin as only a very few of the pupils expect to go to college, so the Board have decided to offer a year's work in Commercial Arithmetic and Geography, to be followed by a good course in practical bookkeeping, as a substitute for the Latin work of the two years. It is not possible to offer both the Latin and commercial subjects on account of the fact that the regular subjects of a two-year course take all the teacher's time.

The West Hill school now numbers twenty pupils in six different grades and the wisdom of opening this school last year is evident, but it is not desirable that pupils of the upper grades should attend this school as it not only gives them poorer chance for grammar school work but the time required for their instruction so much lessens the time left for the younger children.

The two weeks lost at the end of the winter term last year were made up on the spring term so that all the schools, including the primary, had thirty-six weeks in the school year.

An exhibition of pupils drawings was given in connection with the annual graduating exercises, in which work was done by each child in the Troy schools was shown. The variety, originality and skill in execution shown merited the praise which was generally accorded the results of the year's work in drawing. A selection from these drawings was on exhibition at the State Teachers' Association meeting at Concord in October.

The railroad authorities removed the barbed wire fence between the school grounds and their right-of-way and have erected a board fence which is in accord with the state law which forbids the maintenance of a barbed wire fence adjacent to school grounds.

The size of the high school in September made it necessary to return to the old arrangement of having the high and grammar schools sit in the same room and send classes into the small room for recitations. This is not a satisfactory arrangement as the periods for the recitations in the two schools cannot be the same and time is lost and confusion caused by one class passing while another is reciting.

In closing this report I wish to commend the pupils of the Troy schools for their fine record for punctuality and regular attendance and to express to the teachers and School Board my appreciation of the pleasant courtesy and kind cooperation which I have received from them.

Respectfully submitted,

JAMES N. PRINGLE,

Superintendent of Schools.

REPORT OF SUPERVISOR OF MUSIC.

To the School Board of Troy, N. H.:

An examination of the statistics found in "School Monthly Magazine" shows that the music in the public schools today, is better systematized, better taught, and has a higher aim, than ever before.

Some of the principal features of the music work here in Troy may be summarized for the different grades as follows: Grade one; care of the monotone, imitation exercises, and rote songs. Grade two: reading from the chart, and beginning of "time exercises." Grades three and four: The use of the "First" music reader," individual singing of simple songs, and little choruses in two parts. Grades five and six: All the chromatic intervals in the ascending scale are worked out; the use of the Second music reader, and individual sight-reading and recitation.

In addition to what has been mentioned, these six grades have dictation exercises, "time exercises," and interval practice from the black-board almost daily.

In the upper grades we study the descending chromatic interval minor scales and chords, review all previous work, and write original melodies, based upon their previous musical study. Here we give an example only when necessary, encouraging the pupils to study out, and overcome the difficult problems for themselves.

These methods lay stress upon the cultural side only, but we try not to lose sight of the art side. We endeavor to have the songs rendered with intelligence and expression, and try to create a love for good music. If it were possible to have a mechanical player, using only the best music, the pupils could then become familiar with some of the standard symphonies, chamber music and operas. This would enable us to give the children more of the art side of music than they could otherwise get, and although we expect only a small proportion of the school children to become musicians, it is the wish of every teacher to have all become intelligent listeners, and learn to appreciate good music, and carry it into their homes. We frequently ask at the beginning of a term how many have sung at home during vacation, and usually a large proportion will say that they have. We are planning to have each child below the seventh grade carry home a little booklet of his written music work, at the end of the school year.

The winter's work is carefully planned each month to ensure steady progress and the teachers and pupils try to cover as much ground as possible between the visits of the supervisor, and some of the different parts of the Fall work are reviewed, securing a more distinct articulation and tuneful harmony.

Something has been accomplished this past year in toning down and softening the harsh voices, and we think the voices are much sweeter than they were a few months ago. This result has been accomplished in part through the use of the forward tone of the syllables, changing them to the 00 sound, using these syllables as far as grade five.

The children are trained to take an erect position, natural and relaxed, and are told the reason why this position is better for singing, and better for their health.

We strive to work out all the monotones in the lowest grades. If one is found in the third or fourth grades, he has come from a school outside of Troy. We can recall several pupils who were monotones at first, but who are now singing correctly in the fifth and sixth grades.

We hope sometime to introduce a book containing standard familiar songs which are familiar to the outside musicians but not to the children. One set of books might answer at first, and be distributed occasionally among the grades.

To sum up then what we are striving to do, it is to teach the children, not only to sing, but to love good music; to preserve and improve their voices, and to give them such a knowledge of the elements of music, that they become music readers; and the highest purpose of all, is to show the younger pupils, as well as the older ones, that music is a language, and but another way of expressing thought, feeling and emotion.

Respectfully submitted,

LIZZIE MARIA MAYNARD,

Supervisor of Music.

REPORT OF THE SUPERVISOR OF DRAWING.

Mr. J. N. Pringle, Superintendent of Schools :

In presenting my second annual report, I wish to thank the Superintendent and School Board for their courteous consideration and unfailing support in the Department of Drawing.

The first of every month an outline of the work is given the teachers of Grade 1-VIII.

The work during the year has progressed, sufficient change being made to insure increased interest.

The fall work in all grades was begun by the use of the flowers and fruits both for pencil and color-work.

Careful attention has been given to measuring, object drawing, illustrative, working drawings, shading, and water-color paintings which are the essentials of a good course in drawing. In addition charcoal, stencil work and picture study has been taken up.

There was special work done at Thanksgiving and Christmas. The children designed and made several useful articles at Christmas, such as clipping cases, match-scratchers, pin-balls, button bags, belts, waste baskets and cards.

The West Hill school is separated into two divisions according to ability. In the lower division in music, songs are learned from the Modern Music Primer and Child's First Studies in Music. Work in staves, keys, notes and rests is presented to this division. In the upper division, one and two part work in the First Reader of the New Educational Course is carried on. The two-part work is very good. The study of all musical terms is pursued in the upper division. In the grades special attention is paid to individual sight reading and interval work. One great object in the last named work is to develop softness, sweetness and purity of tone. As a result monotones are fast disappearing. This school is divided the same for drawing as in music. The work in drawing and music has improved greatly this year. Special work was done at Thanksgiving and Christmas.

Graduation day a drawing exhibit was given showing work done by the Troy schools during the year. At least one piece of every child's work was shown. Plans are being made for another exhibit in the Spring term. All parents and friends are invited to come and see the work.

In reviewing the work I feel sure the schools are advancing year by year.

I wish to thank the teachers and pupils for their cooperation.

AMY B. KNEELAND,

Supervisor of Drawing.
